Yes you can join Group Coaching at any time during your membership.

There’s no need to wait for a specific start date. You can join when you feel ready, and you’ll be guided on how to integrate into the group and get the most out of the sessions.

Many members join at different stages of their journey, so you won’t be “behind” you’ll simply meet yourself where you are.

Will I miss anything if I join partway through my membership?

No Group Coaching is designed to support members at all stages, so you can join and benefit at any point.

How do I join Group Coaching?
