At the moment, we don’t offer a formal instalment payment option.

However, we understand that financial flexibility matters. Many members choose to join when the timing feels right for them, and we’re always exploring ways to make the program more accessible.

Do you offer any discounts or financial support?

From time to time, we offer scholarships and other opportunities to support members in joining the program. We recommend staying connected via our email list and social media to hear about these.

Is there a way to try the program before committing?

Yes, we offer a free experience where you can explore what re-origin is about, how the program works, and try a guided visualization and somatic group class before joining.
