No problem at all, life happens.

If you can’t attend a session, detailed notes are shared in your private group forum so you can catch up at your own pace. You’ll still be able to follow along with the key insights and guidance from the session.

You can also continue participating in the group, ask questions, and stay engaged between sessions.

What if I can't make a session in Group Coaching

Not at all. You can easily catch up using the session notes and continue progressing with the group.

Can I still participate if I miss sessions occasionally?

Yes, many members attend when they can and stay engaged through the community and shared resources.
